SUMMARY

   I'm a fourth years student at university of information technology with a good knowledge in C#.NET technologies , knowledge of Object – Oriented programming , Analysis and design , Database and some Design patterns.

   I'm a team-player because I like to help other and learn from them what I don't know. I worked at different positions in team such as programmer , designer , analyst or sometime I was a trainer to help team members to approach new technology which will be used in project.

   I want to take advantages of programming skills & experience and understanding of technology to become a better developer .
